

NEW DEADLINE: April 15, 2013

CONTEST RUNS SEPTEMBER 4, 2012 – ~~MARCH 1, 2013~~

WINNERS ANNOUNCED ~~MAY 8, 2013~~ June 14, 2013

ABOUT THE CONTEST

Welcome to the WHERE Challenge! The Challenge is a national contest endorsed by the Canadian Earth sciences community that asks students aged 9 – 14 years to discover the answers to these questions: What on Earth is in your stuff and WHERE on Earth does it come from? There are thousands of dollars in regional and national prizes to be won and you can enter as a group, an individual or a school. All you have to do is use your imagination and dig up some interesting facts about your stuff.

Pick a favourite object in your home, school or playground, identify one or more non-renewable Earth resources* needed to make that object and tell us WHERE on Earth those resources come from. You may be surprised by how many come from Canada. Your story can be told through an essay, a poem, a song or a play, a painting or a poster, an audio, video or multimedia presentation or anything else you can dream up. The more original, the better!

Winning entries may be used as promotional tools to demonstrate how non-renewable Earth resources are essential to our everyday lives. So think hard, dream big and good luck! All winners will be announced ~~Tuesday, May 8, 2013.~~ June 14, 2013

*Non-renewable Earth resources are substances which occur naturally within the Earth and must be mined, quarried or pumped out from underground. These resources are found in limited quantities and are consumed more quickly than natural processes can replace them.

Some examples of non-renewable Earth resources include:

- Fossil fuels such as petroleum and natural gas (used to make plastic)
- Minerals such as iron ore (used to make steel)
- Rocks such as limestone (used to make cement)
- Minerals such as quartz sand (used to make glass)

Many non-renewable Earth resources are recyclable (e.g. glass and aluminum pop cans) but only a small proportion of what is produced is recycled.

The following are NOT considered non-renewable Earth resources:

- Trees and plants (used to make lumber, fabric and paper)
- Water
- Food: fruit and cereals; meat from animals
- Geothermal energy
- Wind energy

PRIZES

Regional Prizes (Individuals or Groups)

Up to six regional cash prizes of $125 each will be awarded in every Canadian region (Up to three regional prizes of $125 will be awarded in each region in the 9 to 11 age group and up to three regional prizes of $125 will be awarded in each region in the 12 to 14 age group).

The seven Canadian regions are broken down as follows: Atlantic Canada (PEI, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland & Labrador), Quebec, Ontario, Prairies (Saskatchewan & Manitoba), Alberta, British Columbia, the North (Northwest Territories, Yukon, Nunavut).

National Grand Prizes (Individuals or Groups)

Three national grand prizes will be awarded to the top three regional winners in the 9 to 11 age group and three national grand prizes will be awarded to the top three regional winners in the 12 to 14 age group, as follows:

Ages 9 – 11 yrs		Ages 12 – 14 yrs
Best overall entry	$500	Best overall entry	$500
Best creative entry	$250	Best creative entry	$250
Best research entry	$250	Best research entry	$250

School Prizes (Schools)

There will be three school prizes awarded of $750 each. School prizes are based on a combination of quality and quantity of entries from each school.

(School entries are group entries from a school or classroom with an associated teacher.)

CONTEST INSTRUCTIONS

Get ready to turn your imagination loose and develop a creative message to answer the WHERE Challenge: What on Earth is in your stuff and WHERE on Earth does it come from? You may submit an individual entry or enter with a group, youth organization (scouts, guides, 4H, etc) or classroom.

Here's how to get started:

1. Select an everyday object at home or school;
2. Identify one or more non-renewable Earth resources needed to make that object (such as copper, iron, oil, natural gas or silicon);
3. Tell us WHERE on Earth those non-renewable Earth resources were discovered and produced. Were any of them discovered here in Canada?

Now you're ready to create a story to explain why non-renewable Earth resources are so important in our daily lives. Your story can be told through an essay, a poem, a song or a play, a painting or a poster, an audio, video or multimedia presentation or anything else you can dream up! Remember, your entry may be used as a promotional tool to demonstrate how non-renewable Earth resources are essential to our everyday lives.

4. Entry guidelines are as follows:
 - All essays or poems must be less than 800 words.
 - A painting or poster must be 11" x 17" or smaller and submitted at a resolution not less than 150 dpi.
 - A song or audio presentation must be two minutes or less.
 - A video or multimedia presentation must be two minutes or less. To submit a video to the WHERE Challenge, simply access YouTube (www.youtube.com), find the WHERE Challenge Commercial and 'post a video response'. You will be prompted to create a YouTube account or login if you already have one and upload your video. Finally, head over to the entry form on the WHERE Challenge Web site and make sure you post the link to your YouTube video when you fill out your form.

Please note that all entries MUST be submitted in digital format.

HOW TO SUBMIT

Electronic Submission

Fill out the entry form on the WHERE Challenge website and upload your files accordingly (if multiple files, please upload a .zip file). Electronic submission is the best method if your entry is an essay (story or research paper), an audio presentation (song or music) or imagery (painting, poster, illustration, digital painting).

Submitting Video

If your entry is a video, upload your video to YouTube (www.youtube.com) as a 'video response' to the WHERE Challenge commercial and include the link on your entry form.

Snail Mail

If you'd prefer to mail in your entry, please note that you MUST submit your entry in the form of a CD. You may send your entry to:
